

THE HEBRIDEAN HEATHER

The Hebridean Heather tartan is out of the same family as the Hebridean Granite and the Hebridean Thistle. It was created for the new House of Edgar Collection by their designer Kirsty Anderson and Smiths Highlandwear is one of a handful of stores in Scotland where this tartan is available.

The Hebridean Heather outfit is one of contemporary class, particularly with the back shirt and burgundy cravat to match. The tartan itself is grey with a dark red pin stripe and white, and is proving to be very popular.
